SATURDAY, JANUARY 29.

The Coming Election. The biennial election for representatives will take place on Monday the 7th of February. which is the day designated by law. There will steamer's freight money, from this port to San Francisco, be two polls, one at the north entrance and the other at the south entrance of the Court-house in this city. The voting will commence at 8 a great falling off, after the load praises of the port given in the o'clock A. M., and close at 5 o'clock P. M. No person will be allowed to vote who does not produce his tax receipt at the polls, with the words from which we learn that a large truffic is being done on it. On it "Kupono ke koho ana"-entitled to vote, Boots and shoes head the list of goods received by rall (8,725 which words must be cancelled by the Inspectors before he can vote. The law is strict, but this is necessary to prevent the frauds so often practiced.

Any person who chooses to do so, can enclose year, to $11,534,690, showing a decrease, as compared with his ballot in a sealed envelope, with no name on it, which envelope cannot be opened till the count takes place. Should two ballots be found

It is probable that the election will be more hotly contested than any previous one, and for this reason, we trust that no Government official will be allowed to take active part in influencing Respecting the markets in San Francisco, our advices state the votes of any of the electors at the polls. Their duty is to preserve order,-not to influence a vote. The occurrences at the last election will not be soon forgotten, when Bill Ragsdale, Caperal cargoes of reffeery grades still on the market, the refiners tain Mahuku and others in Government service, tore up ballots of the independent candidates, for flawaiian sugars, which are quoted at 11@111c for choice; and practically forced many voters to deposit ballots which they did not desire to. Let there be no repetition of such transactions, but let it be a fair and square stand-up contest between the two leading parties-then no one can com-

INDEPENDENT TICKET. A. P. Jupp, (lawyer.) THOMPSON, (lawyer.) J. Kanai, (formerly shipping master.) R. G. Davis, (lawyer.)

These are all native Hawaiians, well known as men of intelligence, independence and integrity, whose votes can not be hought ... tet the pron of office or subsidy. If elected they pledge themselves to support the Administration in everything that they consider for the welfare of the people, but will oppose every project of a contrary nature. This ticket will carry great weight with all who desire to be honestly and fairly represented in the Legislative Hall, where, at best, the people have but little voice in the Administration and framing of laws, and will doubtless command the support of nearly every foreigner and of all the natives who are left to act for

There may be other tickets brought out to solicit the support of voters, but they can receive only a few votes at most; and we strongly advise all who desire to see fair play, and an open and honorable contest between two nearly equally divided parties, to drop all other candidates and ballots, and support one or the other of these. If all the names do not suit, erase such and insert others that do. But let these two tickets have the whole field to themselves, as they had at the election in 1868.

The Independent Platform.

The independent party propose to be guided in the canvass at the approaching election of representatives by the following principles: First.-The true object of legislation is to secure the greatest good of the greatest number. Second .- The representatives of the people in the Legislative Assembly should be men absolutely independent and disinterested, whom from the integrity of their character, it will be impossible to swerve from their devotion to the interests of the people by any influence whatever. Third .- The Government should be conducted according to the principles of wise economy. Fourth .- Internal improvements, liberally planned and supported secure the most permanent and beneficial results and tend to ensure the prosperity of the Fifth .- The material and moral prosperity of the subject is best secured by a system which encourages the people to cultivate and reside on their own homesteads or kuleanas, and generally fee simple ownership in land by the majority, and discourages the concentration of land titles in the hands of a wealthy few, which state of things, as is shown by history, renders impossible the existence of a flourishing middle class of independent yeomanry. Legislation should therefore tend toward the growth and development of such a middle class of independent landhold-

Sixth .- A high protective tariff would enhance the already high cost of living in this country and work to discourage free immigration hither. Seventh .- Legislative interference with the natural Hewittox-In Sufficial, Conn., Dec. 15th, the wife of Capt. and trade, should be positively discountenanced.

The Japanese Laborers.

The official organ of this week has a labored article, evidently by authority, to show that the emigration of the Japanese, brought here in June, 1868, by the ship Scioto, was voluntary on their part and fair on the part of the agents engaged. The drift of its argument may be inferred from the following extract: " No one has ever claimed, or intimated, that there was any 'kidnapping' of men. The idea is suffiprinted list of qalified voters for this district, who ciently absurd-to kidnap 350, or even 150, men says that he neglected to pay his taxes until during and women in the streets of their own town by one the first week in January. How can this be possible single man, and embark them on board a British

Now this is all incorrect. While we have no doubt that the Hawaiian Consul, Mr. E. M. Van Reed, acted in good faith, and that the laborers kidnapping and a new coolie trade," "Surely there is nothing in all this in any way resembling the horrible Macao coolie trade. There is no kidnapping, no deception; there are most advantageous terms and a government guarantee that all conditions of the contracts shall be carried out and the same protection given to the immigrants is to native-born subjects of Hawaii." The following is the notice of the American

Minister referred to, which was issued just after the Scioto left Japan :

LEGATION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. УОКОНАМА, МАУ 26ти, 1868.

These extracts sufficiently disprove the asserions officially made in the extract quoted from the Gazette, and show that "some one" in Japan " has claimed " and " intimated," too, in rather clear language, that there was "kidnap-

Now the plan on which these Japanese emirants were obtained was unquestionably the mly one on which foreign laborers should be procured for these islands. And had their dearture only received the full sanction of the Mikado's Government, no complaint could be made. With only this exception, we agree with the Japan Times, when it says, "there is not a single objectionable point in the whole affair." The emigrants were engaged for three years, without any contract, except the promise of the ment for three years, at four dollars a month, and then be returned to their homes, without expense to themselves. These were the terms as officially published at the time of their arrival:

"The Japanese have left their own country under no written contracts. There is only the agreement of the Hawaiian Consul, as Agent of the Board, with the Japanese authorities, that the wages shall be four dollars per month, with food, clothing and return, at the end of three years, to Japan. They are under verbal engagements to perform the service required, to the Board, which has the right to assign this service to others, and is responsible for the payment of the wages, and the faithful performance of all the stipulations of the engagement with them on the part of their employers The Board, therfore, having induced a free emigration from Japan, and received the laborers here, are in duty bound to provide suitable places for them, and to return them to

These Japanese laborers, imported in the Scioto, were practically free laborers, coming here without contract, and only entered into contract after their arrival, which, had it been made directly with the planter or employer, would be the very system which we are striving to see established ment organ says it would be the hight of folly to also to assure you that in my official post undertake to bring free immigrants into this already been fairly tried. Had it been done would have met no adverse criticisms. Those who have employed them, have generally been well satisfied; and while we are glad to learn that the Japanese Envoys were so well pleased with the condition in which they found their countrymen, we think that this government might have acted with more consideration for the rights of the planters and other employers of these laborers, than to allow them to be taken off without a day's notice, or, in some instances, any explanation. In other matters, it has sought the co-ope-

The Cuban Revolution.

The condition of affairs in Cuba still remains as mystified as it has for months past. If any change has taken place it would seem to have been in favor of the Spaniards, who have now the co-operation of the thirty gunboats built in America, which sailed from New York during December and January for Cuba. They will aid very materially in blockading the insurgents, and preventing the landing of war materials for their

One of the despatches from Havana states that the proposition made in Congress to impose a duty of five cents a pound on all centrifugal grade sugars has caused great excitement there, as well it might. This, if carried out, would be a heavy burden on Cuban planters, and drive them perhaps to seek annexation to the United States, which would save to them an annual tax of over

It may be to this newly-developed policy that the correspondent of the New York Tribune refers when he says " that the Administration has now under earnest consideration the propriety of changing its course in regard to Cuba, and of speedily recognizing the belligerent rights of the nsurgents. This course is impelled by the evident feeling of the people and the temper of the majority of Congress. The report further states that Secretary Fish and Senator Sumner have expressed, within three days, such views as would indicate a change of policy towards Cuba and confidence in their future."

A report was published in Havana on the first of January that the insurgents had decided to submit and surrender to the authorities. This, however, has been stoutly denied by the Chairman of the Cuban Junta in New York, who has published a card denouncing as utterly false the press J. B. KINNEY, dispatches from Havana in regard to the circular alleged to have been received in Cuba from the Junta, advising the Cubans to lay down their arms, and declares if such circular exists it is a case of forgery and part of a deep laid, unscrupulous scheme to pervert public opinion respecting the progress of the revolution. He says they are using the most strenuous efforts in its behalf, and every day they are more confident of success, with or without the support of foreign nations. But perhaps the most authentic report of the condition of the rebels is that given in the proclamation of President Cespedes, under date of Guaymas, Cuba, Nov. 30: He claims to have 40,000 troops, well armed, and with passable discipline, and to be receiving supplies and munitions of war quite regularly. He asks recognition by the Congress of the United States. He says: were bona fide free emigrants, this does not "We have captured 1,926 Spanish soldiers, 1,471 alter the fact that at least one of the Yokohama of whom have been released on paroles.
